Your name is my name too!

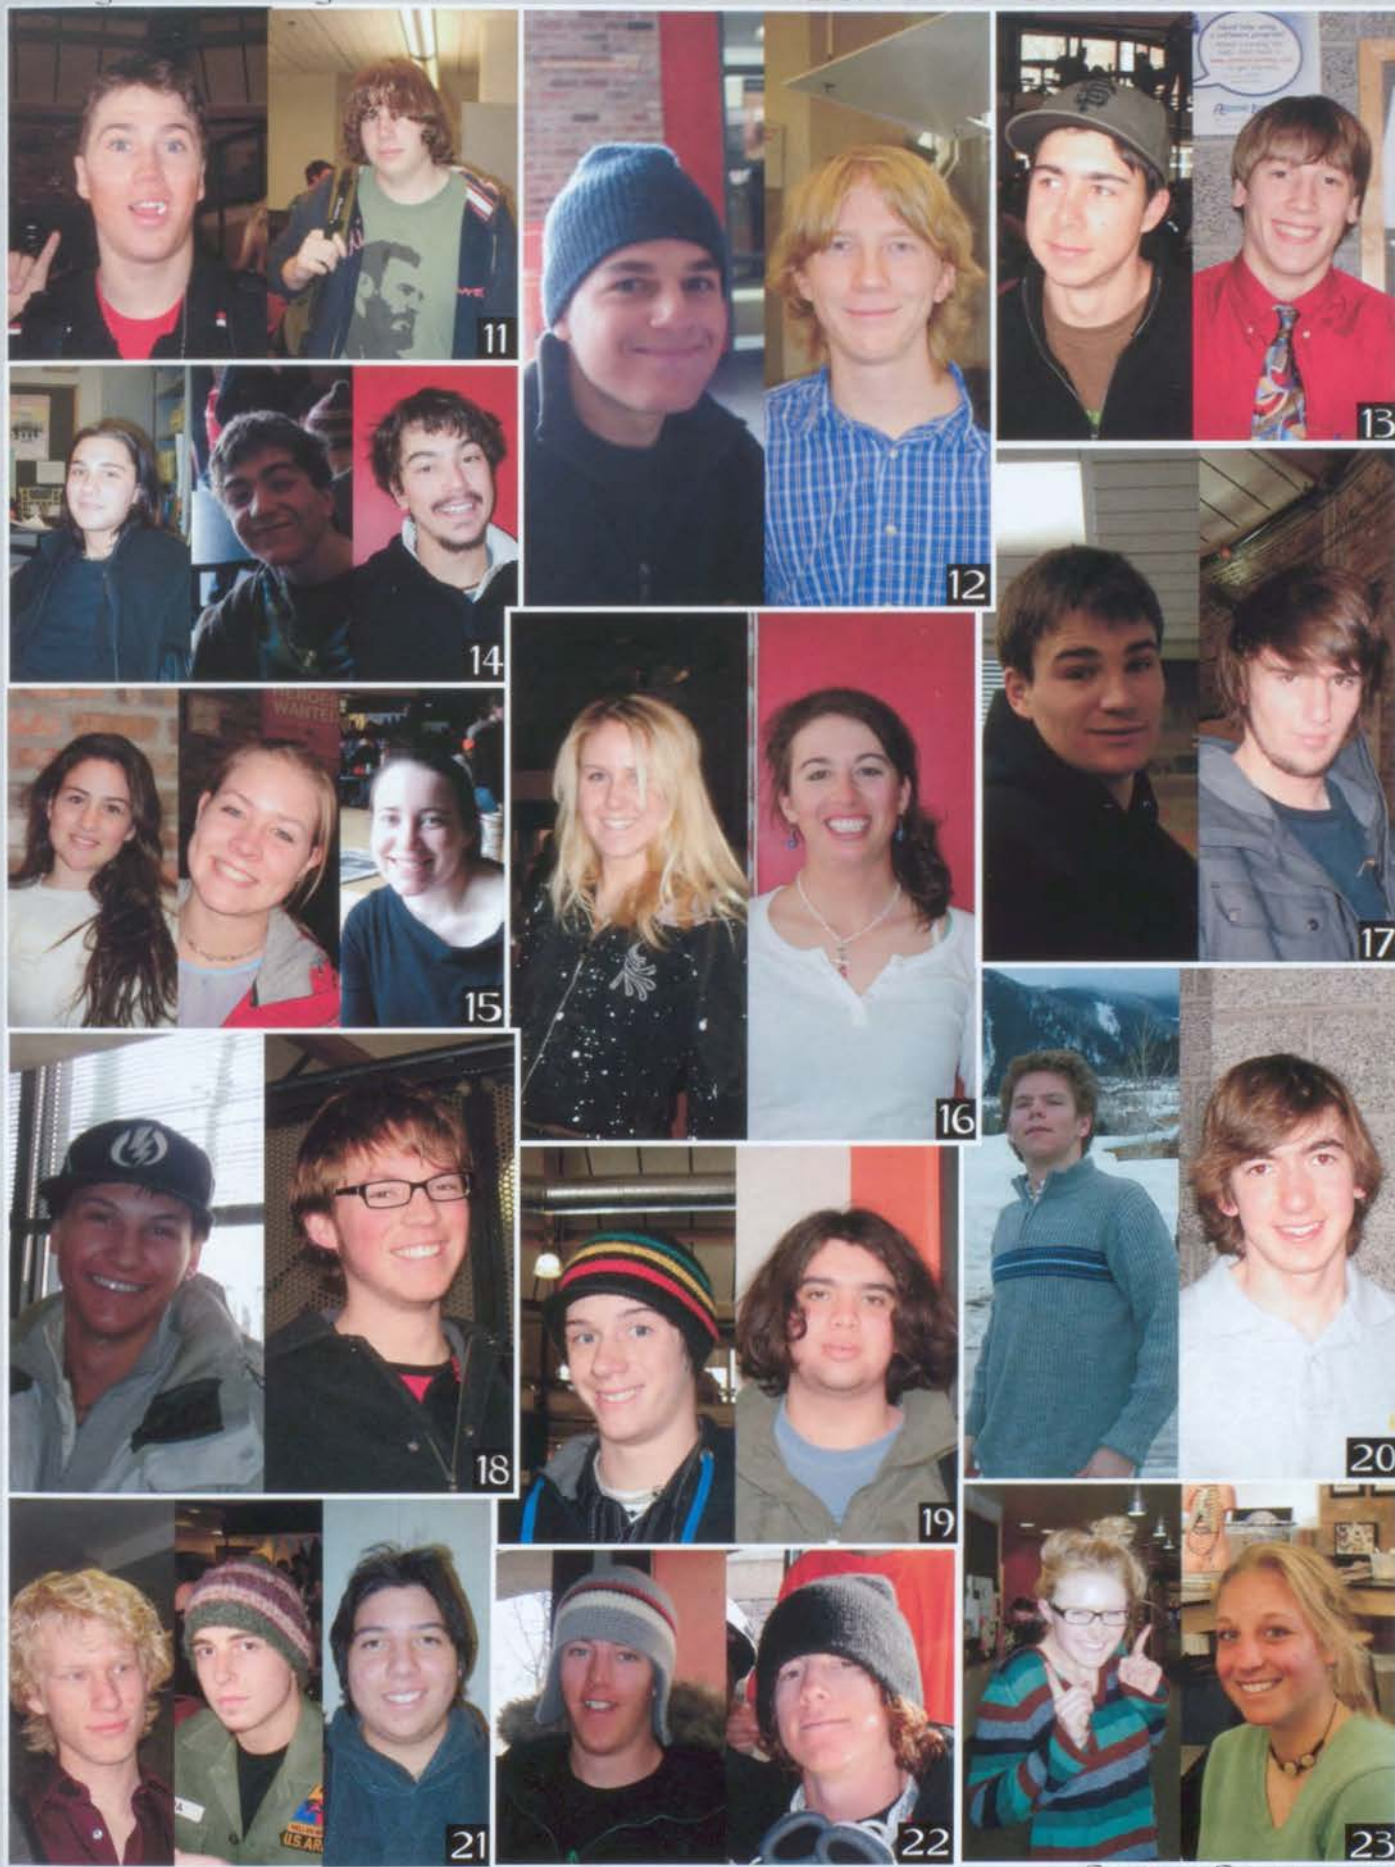

The parents of the senior class must have been thinking alike because multiple seniors have duplicate names. It was hard to claim individuality if you're graduating in 2006. There were 24 names that at least 2 kids called their own. With four girls calling themselves Carly, it was the most popular name of the grade. However, with all the unique personalities these people possess, there was little confusion of which was which.

Most Likely to...

Look into a crystal ball and see the Class of 2006 in the future...

Succeed

Kelly Bogaert and Nathan Work are destined for greatness.

Lecture at Harvard

Corina Person and Brandon Briscoe will be recognized as outstanding teachers.

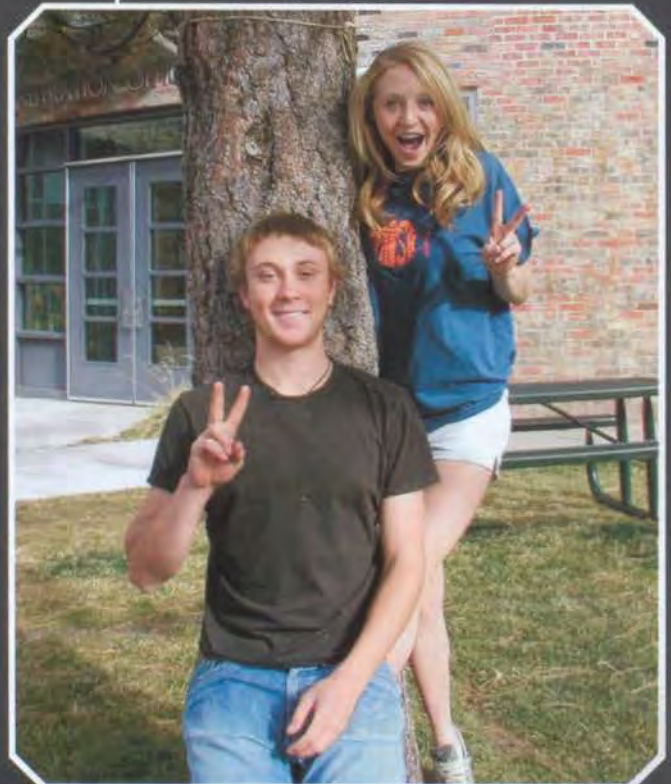

Be a Tree Hugger

RJ Jensen and Katrina DeVore are the next generation of concert loving hippies.

Never Buy a Wig

With great hair that everyone envies, Joe Oppenheimer and Amanda Schochet will be in the next Herbal Essences commercial.

Become Ski Bums

Matt Walker and Rachel Weitzenkorn will be hitting the slopes all year round looking for sweet skiing across the country.

Start a Trend

Kristi Bowden and Andrew Wickes show off their impeccable sense of style.

Compose a Symphony

Keep your ears open for the sweet sound of musicians Lacy Mosher and Sean Warnecke.

Crash Into You

Carly Herreid and Doug Steinhurst are likely suspects at a car crash scene.

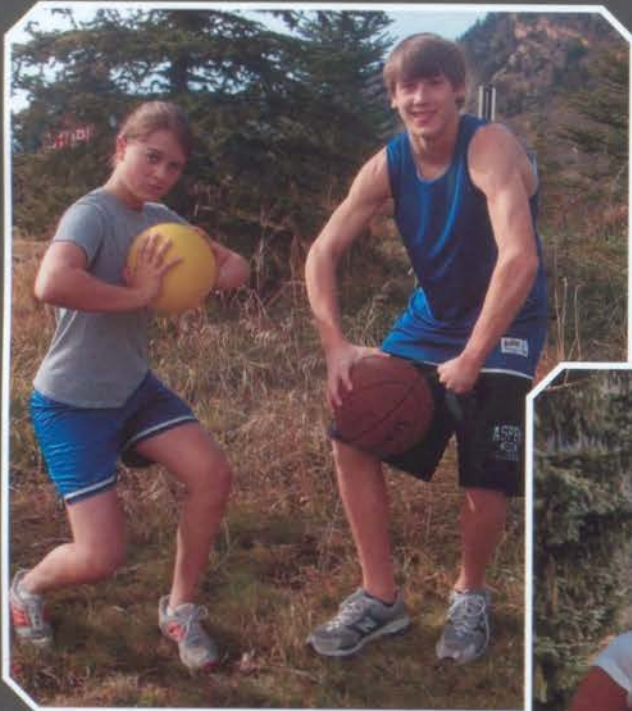

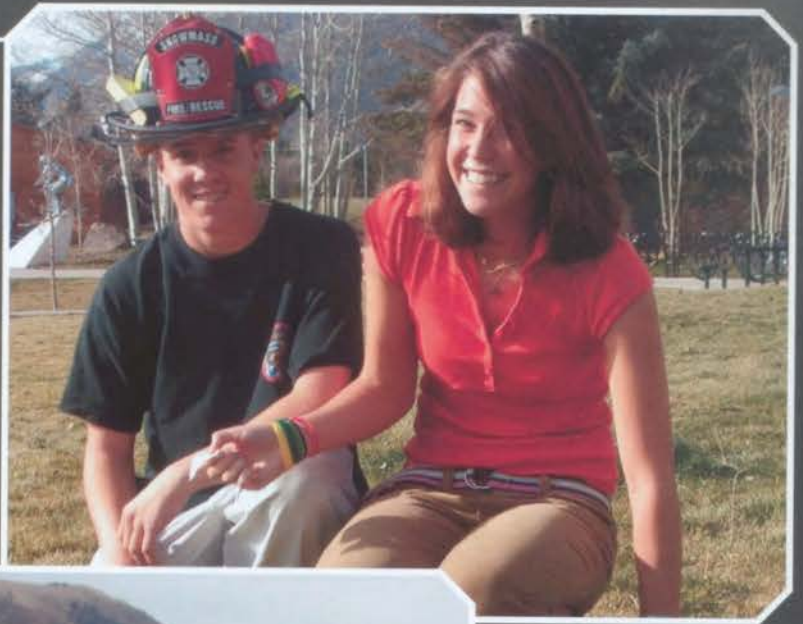

Travel the World

Where in the world are Kelsi Moore and DJ Furth? They are scouring the globe for fun in exotic and fascinating places.

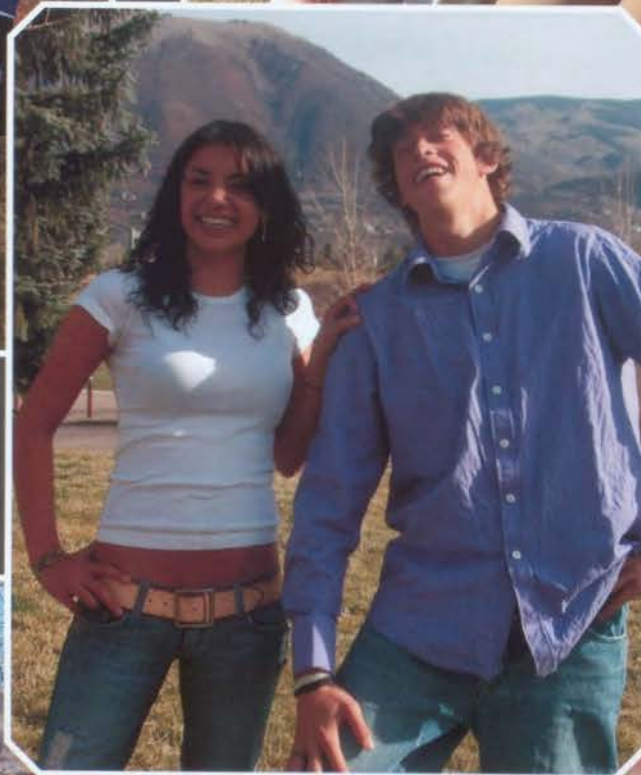

Save the World

The next superheroes of our time will be Kurt Barth and Meghan Braisted for their selfless acts of kindness to others and the environment.

Be an Olympian

With the athleticism of Carly Magill and Luke Gosda, there's no way they'll come in last for any event.

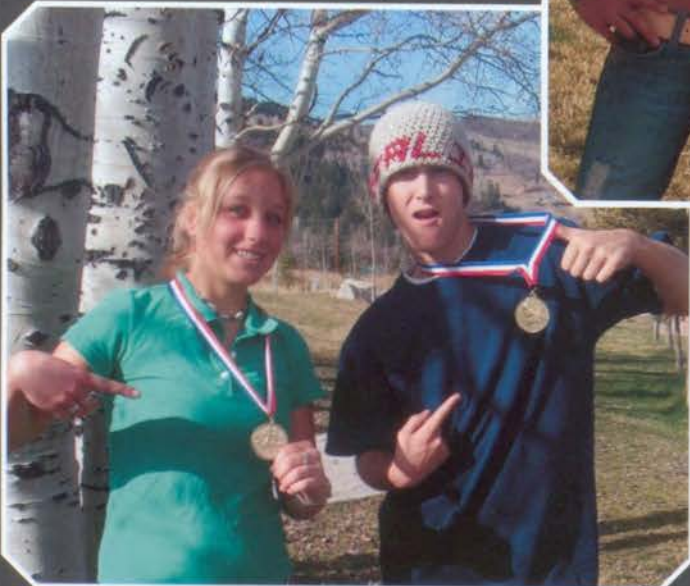

Make You Laugh

The next comedians on Saturday Night Live are the very humorous Christiane Daniel and Reuben Sadowsky.

Brighten the World

Wylie Melberg and Jamie Gordon have the biggest, most luminous smiles in the valley.

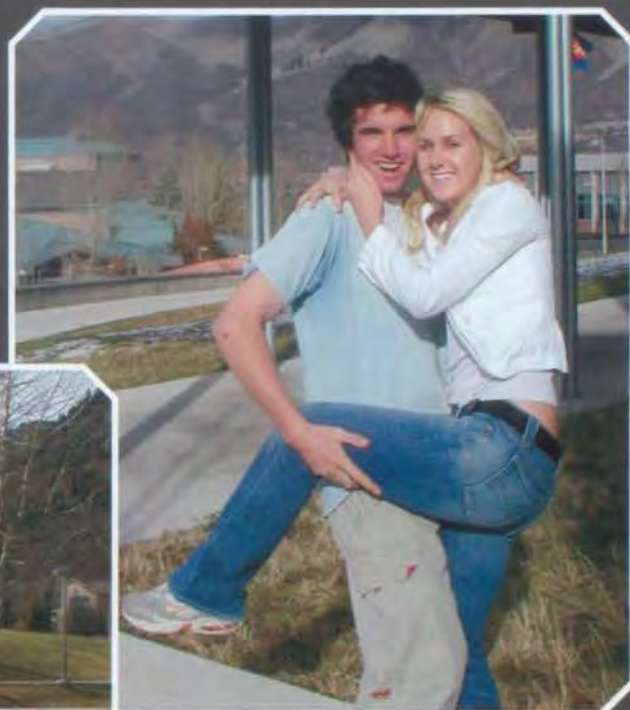

Be Famous

With their amazing athletic skills, Christy Severy and Teddy Karlinski are on their way to becoming rich and famous.

Be on the Real World

Britta Briscoe and Aaron Cummins will be the drama queen and king on the next Real World; they will stop being polite and start getting real.

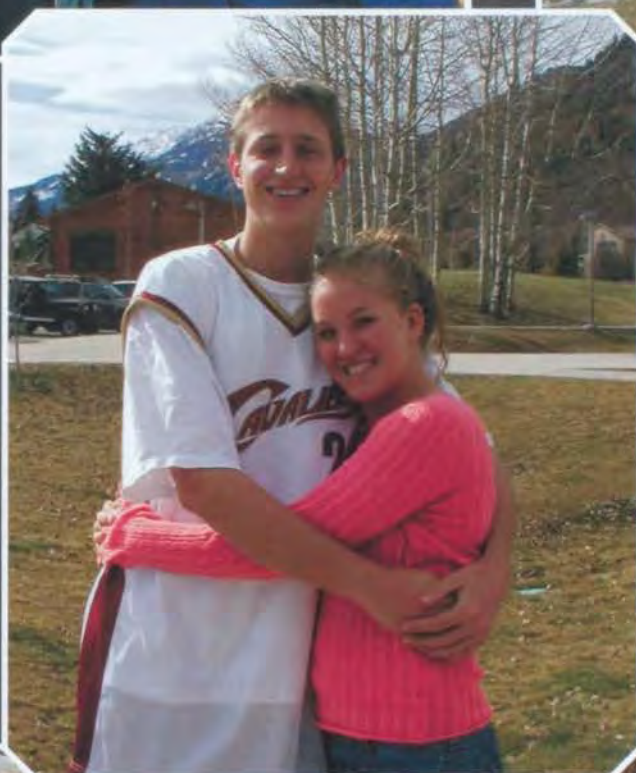

Give You a Hug

Mirror mirror on the wall, who is the most caring of them all? That would be Tucker Helmus and Elise Fornell of course.

Laugh it Off

The laughs of Glenn Engelman and Carly Sewell are so contagious they spread like wild fire.

Flirt With You

Watch your boyfriend or girlfriend because Henry Cote and Rachael Marshall are always on the prowl for some good fun.

Get Lost in Their Eyes

With eyes that could see into your soul, Jackson Davis and Kelly Mitchell proudly show their beautiful peepers.

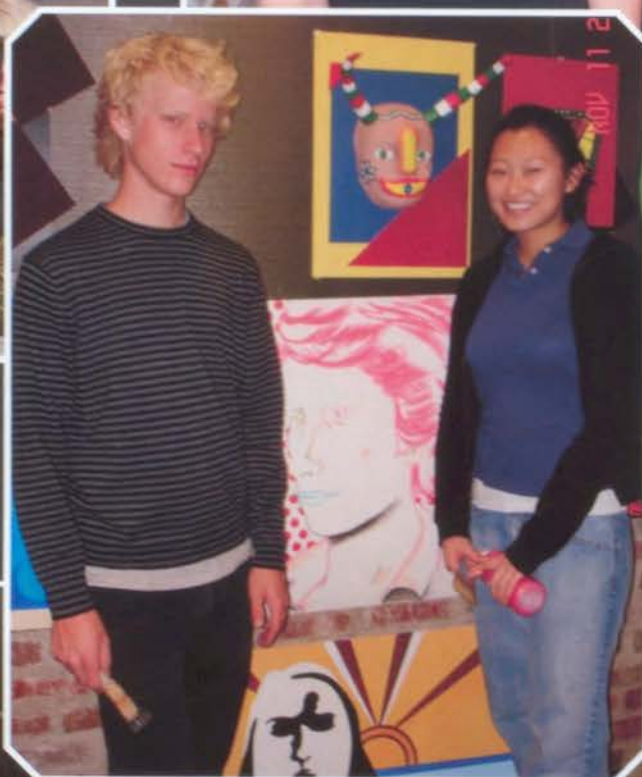

Never Conform

With their own unique personalities, Ben Hendrix and Danielle Forde will always stand out from the crowd.

Never Grow Up

Pat Cote and Natasha Gitlitz will be playing Barbies and Legos right along side their kids.

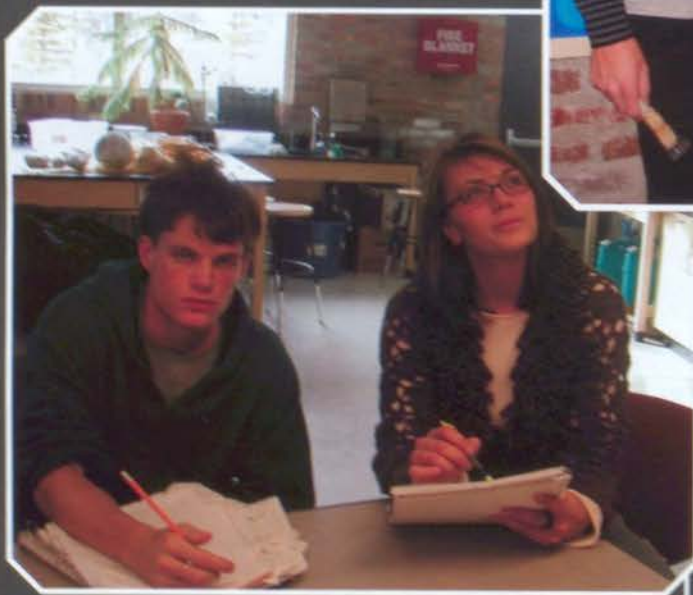

Own a Gallery

The next artists featured in the MOMA are Tyler Erwin and Connie Luu.

Trip Over Themselves

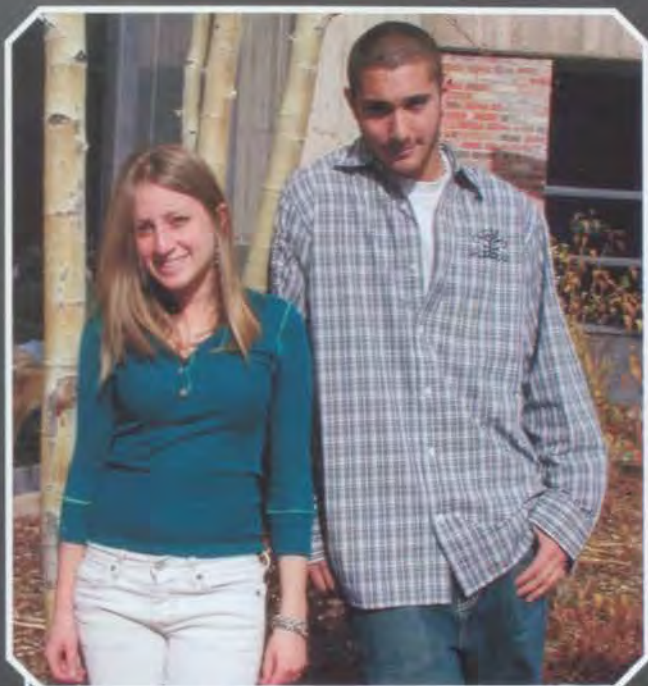

Baby proof all the corners because Kevin Coulombe and Nena Sivess could bump into anything.

Be a Nobel Prize Winning Writer

Every student would want Jamie Bernard or Brooke Sheffer to write their college essays.

Be Barbie and Ken

With the most high heels and gangsta outfits of them all, Amanda Greenberg and David Goldberg have the right to be the most feminine and most masculine.

Cheer You On

With their spirit and spunk, Elyse Boelens and Jyace Stutsman will be the ultimate cheerleaders for their kids.

Goodbyes...

We have become independent
Become so unique
We all have our own flaws
Yet success we all seek

The friendships we've made
These people we've met
They have changed us forever
They are impossible to forget

They have shown us the world
Helped us overcome our fears
When we are too sad to cry
It's they who shed our tears

It's hard to believe
It's all coming to an end
We're going our own ways
But letters we will send

We are starting all over
We are discovering new paths
Plowing our futures
But remembering our laughs

We have grown up together
We have shared our whole lives
But to start moving forward
We must say our goodbyes

Our goodbyes to those people
Who make us feel whole
Those people we love
Those people we know

We can remember every moment
That we ever shared
Those moments we fought
The moments we cared

We never thought
We could meet people like these
People who make us smile
With the greatest of ease

It's a change we must face
And we all must be strong
Things will go right
And things will go wrong

Just remember that
We will always be together
We will experience these changes
But we can't stay here forever

Friendships will be lost
Freindships will remain
People will become different
And some will stay the same

We are engraved in each others' souls
Engraved in each others' hearts
This is the end of the beginning
This is where it all starts

So we can't be afraid
There is time to be spent
So hold your memories close
And let's start our ascent

Let us climb to the top
Let us become who we are
Let's keep moving forward
We have made it this far

We are walking away now
Opening a new door
Becoming ourselves
Searching for more

It's come to an end
It's over; it's done
Let's stay true to ourselves
Let's go; let's have fun

Go, team go! Showing their school spirit, a pack of screaming fans cheer on the Aspen Volleyball team.

As always, Homecoming Day proved to be a day full of school spirit and support for our various sports teams. While only soccer won their game, all of the teams put forth tremendous effort and determination. After watching Dodge ball the night before in the district theater, the students were ready to cheer and encourage their fellow friends on to victory.

Yeah! Over joyed, a couple of the Aspen soccer players join in a group hug.

Center stage. Cheeks red with embarrassment, the freshmen volleyball players perform a traditional initiation dance for the audience.

It's mine! With much competition, senior DJ Furth runs to get the ball before his opponent does.

Intimidation. Running to the field, the Aspen Skiers start their homecoming football game with confidence.

Air ball. In mid-air, sophomore Tucker Eason jumps to catch the ball.

Ruck it up! The Aspen High School Ruckus dance team shows their support by dancing during half time at the football game.

Enjoy the Show! Before their game, the Varsity Volleyball Team sits back and watches the Freshmen Volleyball girls dance for them.

Pet Peeves

What bothers students?

"When teachers take ten minutes to yell at one person, then blame the class for wasting time."
~Freshman
Robert Franklin

"When teachers lie, like when they say 'We are going to watch a movie', and then we don't."
~Sophomore
Jackie Standish

"I hate it when teachers compliment me on my clothes. It really cramps my style. Word."
~Senior
Sean Warnecke

"When teachers have long classes with a non-ending PowerPoint and it is the last period of the week and all you want to do is go skiing."
~Senior
Brittany Fortier

"When they give you tons of homework and then don't ask for it until a few months after it was due."
~Junior
Elle Stark

What bothers teachers?

"When I give an assignment and students ask, 'Does it need to be in Spanish?'"
~Spanish teacher,
Rixie Cornell

"When a student asks, 'Do you have any good books?'"
~Librarian,
Lauren Cassatt

"When kids ask 'What are we doing today?', and I can't stand wimpy, whiny kids."
~Business teacher,
Dan Vesper

*There was always something that drove teachers crazy, something that pushed their buttons, made them nuts. When asked to go to the bathroom the answer was almost always followed with a chuckling "NO!". Some teachers [*cough, KIRK, cough ] found pen tapping absolutely the worst crime committed. On the other hand, students have their pet peeves about teachers as well. It makes sense, we spend more time with each other at school than we spend at home. So, we found out what the biggest pet peeves were. Remember, students, these pet peeves may keep you out of trouble, and teachers, your students are your best critics.

"Whining about learning how to write."
~English teacher,
Julie Gummerman

"I hate it when students say, 'I'm so bored!', I want to be bored!"
~Guidance counselor,

Caroline Hanson

Aspen Cares

ASPEN STUDENTS SUPPORT VICTIMS OF HURRICANE KATRINA

Parade of boxes. Sophomore Gaelen Means carries a box of clothes as he comes out of school.

New Coach? Karen Angus wonders if anyone will notice that she's not the real football coach.

The Gang. The founders of Aspen Cares, juniors Sara Faurer, Alayne Kane, Lauren Lacy, Claire Westcott, Laura Hatanaka, and Alicia Leto, are proud of their hard but tiring work.

Time out. Freshman Paul Jung takes a breather.

Helping The Victims of Hurricane Katrina

Aspen Cares was the way the students of Aspen showed their concern for the victims of Hurricane Katrina. Students dedicated their lives to collecting and sorting clothing and books for over a month. They collected clothing at AES, AMS, AHS, City Market, Clarks' Market, and the Aspen Volunteer Firestation. Over 16 tons of clothing were sorted and packaged in the Mezzanine of the cafeteria, to send to Northside High School in Lafayette, Louisiana.

At least it's not raining. Freshman Rob Cronenberg carefully maneuvers his stack of boxes.

Almost done. Advisor Kathy Klug cannot wait for the truck to come.

Movin' out. A long row of boxes line the entire walkway into school.

Dodge Ball

Wanna fight? Michael Wagner and Danny Goldberg try out the hoodlum sophomore look.

You missed! Freshmen Rob Cronenberg of the Rainbow Rangers team, avoids the oncoming balls by a hair.

HIT! Senior Katrina DeVore chucks a ball at a frightened middle school teacher.

Teacher vs. students. Fellow teachers watch Dan Vesper in anticipation as he runs away from the ball thrown by a student.

This year the second annual Dodge Ball Tournament was held for the Aspen High School. There were 18 high school teams that took shots at each other and paid extra money to hurl objects at their "favorite" teachers. Winning for the second time in a row was the Reigning Champs. The captain of the team, senior Elyse Boelens, asked, "Do you even have to ask who won?" Coach Ketchum said that from all the entries in the tournament, the school raised over $1,900, which supported the boys' basketball trip to Europe in June of 2006. They will have 10 games on their 19 day trip in Germany and France. A freshman in the game, Shelby Burke, explained, "Dodge ball rocked my world! I dominated at it! Even though my team, the Man Eating Ninjas, didn't win, we still did awesome."

Team Skins. The shirtless sophomores, Stephen Boenning, Simon Dolginow, Gaelen Means, Whitney Wickes, Tyler Moore, Taylor Feldman, and Ricky Frias prepare for the 5 D's of dodge ball: dodge, duck, dip, dive and dodge.

Ready, dodge! Freshmen Tommy Mines, Kristey King, and Fritz Gonzalez of the Gorillaz team, sprint to the balls as Tyler Bloom watches in awe.

What Juniors Want To Be When They Grow Up

Some juniors have ideas of what they want to be when they grow up, but are their dreams realistic?

Air Jordan. Michael Holmes aspires to grow and become Michael Jordan.

Vote for me! Reghan Mahaffey announces her candidacy for president a little early.

And how does that make YOU feel? Cynthia Whitman dreams of becoming a psychologist and marrying a ski bum.

Hiya. Practicing his karate moves, Jake O'Connor prepares for his up and coming ninja battle.

Radio City. Lauren Lacy and Laura Hat-anaka aspire to be New York City Rockettes.

IB English World Author Presentations

Piecing it together. Alicia Leto presents a scrapbook of the life and works of Ayn Rand, the author of The Fountainhead.

While other non-IB juniors prepared for the standard final in their English classes, the IB English Juniors geared up for a different type of assessment. As their final, the juniors had to put on a presentation of the author they had been studying for the past two months. Students were expected to be creative and portray the author and the book, and with help from Nancy Fehrmann and Lauren Cassett, the presentations were excellent.

Nirvana. Sophie Ben Hamoo discusses her author during her project.

Getting in to it. Portraying their various characters, Dylan Rayburn, Robert Oppenheimer, Scott Clancy, Ryder Fyrwald, and Matt Beirne really get enthused about their presentations.

Dress-up. Claire Haughey, Megan Raczak, Sarah Richardson, and Skyler Maclean portray various authors in a creative way.

Brrrrrr. Matthew Cooper and Nancy Fehrmenn discover how fashionable and warm Russian hats can be.

ALMOST FAMOUS

Members of the junior class were asked which of their classmates most resembled their favorite movie characters. While some of the responses were based on the students and characters sheer appearance, many were based on the individual personalities that create the junior class.

Heck Yes! Trevan Flynn as Napolean Dynamite.

Brittany Zanin as Regina George, leader of the "Plastics" in Mean Girls.

Robert Oppenheimer as Rafiki.

Rory Suma as Ron Burgundy.

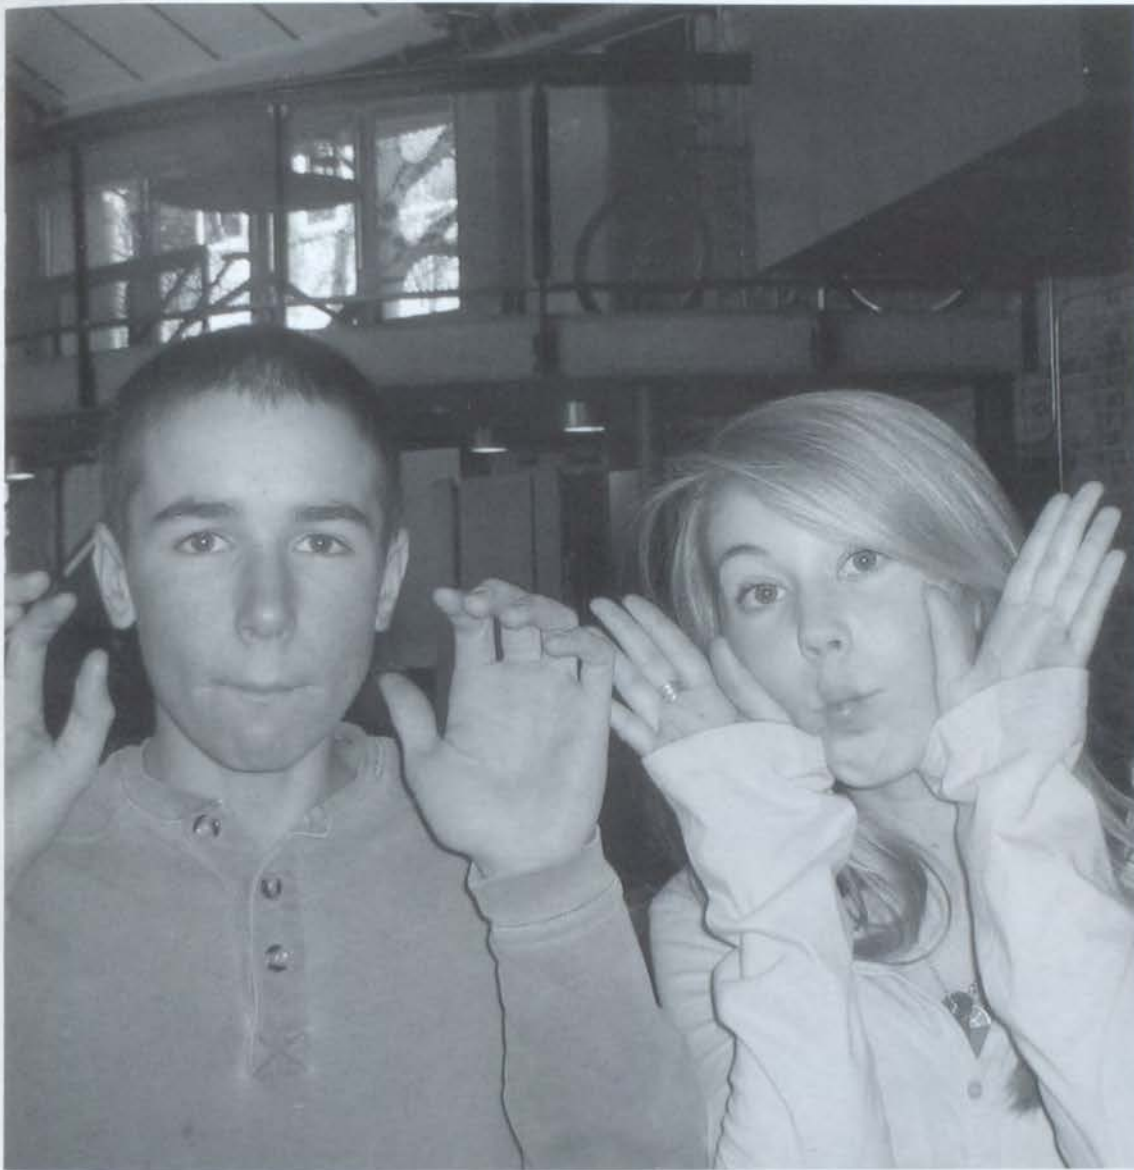

Once upon a time...

Kyla Walter was voted by her classmates to be most like Cinderella.

I am your father!

David Clark shows his dark side as Darth Vader.

Just keep swimmin'! Like the characters Nemo and Dori from the movie Finding Nemo, Noah Hoffman and Haylen Gregory are a perfect pair.

Spidey! Trevor Niningger by day...Spiderman by night. This superhero is off to save the world.

Keep your left hand Alohomora! Eric Sci-up! Haley Ortmann's tough look got her the part of Maggie Fitzgerald, the boxer from Million Dollar Baby. Eric Sciarone didn't quite make the cut for Ron Weasley in Harry Potter, but the juniors thought he fit the part.

The Next Big Thing

Watch out Pro Leagues! These eight students pictured were the best at their sports. From the mountain, to the field, to the court, keep your eyes on these sophomores in the next few years.

“Man, them jocks are somethin’ crazy!”

—Sally Meyer

Go big! Look out for Matt Terrell in the next X- Games. Matt can throw some of Tanner Hall’s awesome tricks.

Dunk it. At 6’ 5” Cory Parker can dunk like Shaquille O’Neil. Look out NBA.

Set Hike. Harry Maniloff was voted most likely to play in the NFL like Tom Brady.

Goooooal! Julia Hassall is the next Mia Hamm. Don't be surprised if you see her in the next World Cup for soccer.

Shake it. Stephanie Purnell gets her groove on like Honey Daniels. She was voted the best dancer in the sophomore class.

Sick turn! Sam Coffey could be next in the Olympics, just like Bode Miller.

Bump, set, spike. Sydney Adams, like Kerri Walsh, has what it takes to go on the AVP tour in volleyball.

Slap shot. Simon Dolginow might be the next recruit for the Colorado Avalanche like Joe Sakic.

Accident Prone or Over Daring?

The sophomore grade was known for their bold and sometimes stupid actions, both in present and past years. Often, it was wondered if sophomores were over daring or just extremely accident prone. In the past many sophomores have committed actions that would go down in history as memorable accidents. These are some of those circumstances that will be brought up at the high school reunions.

"The motto, 'Go big or go home!' is really true for skiers in our grade. Taylor Pruesch broke his femur and Matt Terral shattered his heel bones, both in skiing accidents!"

- Jackie Standish

Scrapes and bruises. While riding her bike home from school in 8th grade, Jennie McLellan packed it on the bike path causing her to have bruises for weeks. It looks like she is still frightened of bike rides.

Two for one. In the first grade, Abby Mickey attempted to jump off a swingset. Little did she know, both her arms ended up in casts.

Scoot it. Razor Scooters seem to be an accident waiting to happen in the sophomore grade. Both Haley Kaufman and Shannon Dick have had major scooter accidents resulting in hospital visits.

"Semi-accident" al. He's at it again. Running under vehicles is Jon Olson's signature trait. The most memorable moment in the 6th grade year occurred when he ran under a moving semi truck. Although this incident didn't end up in an accident, it could have been fatal.

Sweet Sixteen

"I know this sounds lame but my ideal Sweet 16th party would be a small party with my best friends with pizza, soda, and crazy music we are all too embarrassed to listen to with other people."
- Katie Bird

Sophomore year was THE year that students turned sixteen. While all birthdays were special, turning sixteen was extra special. It was the time when everyone got their license and the bus was no longer a must. But more importantly, it was the year of HUGE parties. Sweet sixteen parties were the talk of the year. Who is going to have the biggest bash? and What party will have the most drama? were commonly asked questions. Well, here are your answers.

Sooooo Party. Sweet Sixteen princesses Stephanie Purnell and Gretchen Gatzke get ready for Jessica Hite's Party.

Decked Out. With her birthday hat, presents, and Sweet Sixteen sign made by her friends, Emma Duke is ready to turn sixteen.

Party! Voted most likely to have the biggest Sweet Sixteen bash of the year: Jessica Hite and Danny Goldberg!

Fiesta. Natalie Obermeyer, Katy Fahy, and Amanda Cunningham, celebrate Janie Gosney's Sweet Sixteen in the school library during lunch.

GETTING TO KNOW THE NEW

Did you know that only 53 freshmen have been in this school district since kindergarten, or that 28 new freshmen joined this year? Did you know that this is the only grade in the school without a set of siblings? Did you know that in January, 47 freshmen had braces? Read on and get to know them even better.

EXCUSES, EXCUSES, EXCUSES!

It is true!

~Marissa Lin-

According to teachers, freshmen have the worst homework excuses. It was always, "My printer didn't work" or "It's in my locker", something no teacher should or would believe. Nancy Fehrmann can always see through freshmen's lies. No matter how lame the excuse or how good, most teachers are not fooled by the freshmen. The worst excuse came from Frannie Lupo, "I was walking outside when a snowman attacked me and stole my homework because it was so good."

Unbelievable.
"Oh! I didn't know we had

ADMINISTRATION & SCHOOL BOARD

Superintendent Dr. Diana Sirko and Assistant Superintendent Bev Tarpley

This year, we gained many new school board and administration members. Assistant Secretary and Treasurer Sally Hansen, Vice President Charla Belinski, Secretary Elizabeth Parker, Treasurer Ernie Fyrwald, and Laura Kornasiewicz who moved up to President, were all wonderful new additions to our school. Well known Charlie Anastas was "promoted" to principal. Brad Bates, from Connecticut, was proud to become part of Aspen High School as our new Vice Principal. AHS was definitely a huge change of environment for him compared to his previous all boys prep school, where Dead Poet's Society took place. Every member put in so much effort to do what needed to be done for our school to be as wonderful as it was! Maybe next year we should cut those secretaries a little slack; secretary Stacy Davis has writer's cramp from all the tardy notes she wrote!

COUNSELING AND LIBRARY

“Trauma and drama”
-Geraldine Graham

College Counselor Kathy Klug

When students had a problem, Karen and Geraldine were sought out. When no one knew MLA format, Lauren always had the answer. For juniors and seniors in need of college advice Kathy Klug was at their disposal. These four ladies were busy this year making sure everyone had what they needed. “I’m the paper queen!” exclaimed Kathy Klug. She kept and filed numerous paper from the 144 graduating seniors during their college process. This year there were fewer class offerings than ever before; therefore, Geraldine and Karen kept busy putting students in their desired classes. From help changing classes, to college guidance, to finding a good book to read, the library and counseling departments were the places to go.

YEARBOOK

*"Pages, deadlines, and 'Justin will you HELP ME?' still give me nightmares."
- Editor Justin Faurer*

Senior Editors Elyse Boelens and Justin Faurer

Advisors Nancy Fehrmann and Dan Vesper

The Yearbook staff was the main piece of "the puzzle." It took a lot of time and energy to capture all of Aspen High School's fun this year. The yearbook staff was a puzzle within itself with many surprises and many hard times. "It was an honor to put the Yearbook together," said senior Win Charles as her last high school yearbook was being nished. Although we had a small staff, a bigger book, and an earlier final deadline, the yearbook staff never gave up. "This year was extremely hard to get things finished" explained senior editor Elyse Boelens, "but we hope everyone loves the final production." Deadlines seemed hard to reach because of vacations, sick days, and random days off school. Dan Vesper and Nancy Fehrmann, the sponsors, felt that the effort was worth it for the book is bigger and better than ever, with a serious effort made to capture all students, staff, and their activities.

With Julie Gumerman in charge, and twelve kids working on the staff, the paper comes out every quarter, and everyone writes five possible articles to go in. Julie says that her favorite part of working on the paper is, "When people understand something that they did not before about the programs".

The English Department, including classes such as IB English, World Literature, Creative Writing, Literature and Composition, Speech, and Sci-Fi Fantasy, was made up of a group of wonderful teachers who worked hard to bring the world of literature to students. When special guest, renowned author Frank McCourt, visited the school in January, English teachers felt students saw literature come to life. The department saw changes during the course of the year including the return of Cerena Thomsen after first quarter and "sub" Susan Benner becoming a part time teacher.

-AHS Social Studies Department Motto

The Social Studies department included a variety of classes taught by excellent teachers including Matt Wells, Chris Bonadies, Tameira Wilson, Karen Green, and Kirk Gregory. Throughout the various history classes, students realized that history and world events can be interesting and fun to learn about. The department also provided new maps on the second floor walls and had “Problem of the Week” contests during the year. Prizes for winners were gift certificates to Johnny McGuire’s Deli. Matt Wells took his IB History of the Americas class to breakfast for a scored discussion to provide a different atmosphere. In many ways this department brought a different and more enjoyable year.

MATH "The Universal Language!"

-Ian Wagener

Math, the language of numbers. To some math seemed just second nature while others were left dazed and confused. Veteran teacher Jean Carey [Dr. J.] said she teaches math because she loves the subject as well as seeing children understand the once impossible material. Four year teacher, Jamie Hozak, thinks everyone can do math. All teachers agreed that group work helped kids understand the concepts faster. New teacher, Angelia Rosindi, came here from Summit County High School. She was a great new addition to the math department, even though she came here for the "better snow!"

Junior David Clark!

Women rule the world. Well, maybe not the world but they did in the language department, which gives students a chance to broaden their horizons and learn about a different culture or two. These ladies took their jobs very seriously as we could all see when teacher Janis Dybdal was shot in the leg and back to school before lunch the next day! "We always knew she was a trooper," said Sara Faurer, "but now she's a thug," added Page Cottrell.

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE

"The funniest thing that happened in ESL this year was when I was wearing two different socks while we were reading a story about a lady who wore two different socks and the kids pointed it out to me!"

-Linda Lafferty

Helping Spanish speaking students learn how to speak English, was a valuable experience for the latinos at Aspen High. The ESL teacher, Linda Lafferty, says that the most "rewarding activity for the 27 students was the bilingual Ex-Ed trip, Horses and Amigos." It connected the English speakers and the Spanish speakers and made them work to understand each other. Each level of ESL, 1, 2, and 3, had its own challenges and accomplished stars. From the beginners to the most advanced English speakers, ESL helped our school connect English and Spanish speakers through their languages.

BUSINESS

"Classes that will mold your future..."
-Dan Vesper

Freshman Tyler Bloom

"Business classes may be some of the most important set of classes you will take," stated Dave Conarroe, one of the two teachers in the Business Department. "It is the only way to learn about the stuff everybody is going to deal with later in life." Out of all the business education classes offered, only MS Office was required; however, students had the choice of taking electives such as Keyboarding, Sports Marketing, or Economics. MS Office used to be a dreaded class to take, but the new teacher Dan Vesper tried his best to change that stereotype. "I understand that MS Office can be a very boring class to take in high school, but hopefully my second grade maturity level will liven things up a bit." No matter what business class AHS students decided to take, it was guaranteed they will use what they learned throughout their educational and professional careers.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND HEALTH

- Sophomore Sam Coffey

“Health classes are the only classes that really prepare you for life.” These are the courses that students signed up for to put some pazazz into their day. After sitting in boring classes, these were the courses that put joy into the hearts of the students. It’s the only place that students could pelt balls at their peers, mess around, and NOT GET IN TROUBLE! The classes EVERYONE looked forward to attending no matter what mood they were in.

Aspen, being the athletic school that it is, encourages kids to stay active. These courses helped to promote that as well. Calan Gibney and Coach Steve Ketchum did a fantastic job entertaining the kids in their classes. Ketchum ended the first semester by exclaiming, “My classes are awesome, my students are motivated, and everyone is fit.”

MUSIC, ART

“Art means food hugs on Fridays.”
-Barbra Smith

Students who enjoyed the creative aspect of Aspen High School had a great year with all of the classes available. The school was decorated with posters advertising the many events of music, art, and theater. The year proved to be a stressful one for the art teachers. Not only were classes overflowing with students, but the level of work was extremely difficult. Tons of artwork, like paintings, mannequins, masks, and clay plates covered the halls all year. The students were busy with school, activities and numerous art assignments, but they managed to create exceptional pieces.

& THEATER

“Theater is a lot of fun and the performances are rewarding.”

- Senior Ryan Stout

The art students were not the only ones working hard; students from theater and music classes were quite busy themselves. With the Black Box theater as their humble home, the theater kids enjoyed learning about all aspects of the theater. The IB Theater classes helped set up and strike sets for numerous performances including some they starred in. The music classes held several choir concerts this year with the help of choir teacher Paul Dankers. The Symphony in the Valley truly demonstrated the talents of the kids. It was an outstanding year for artistic classes at the high school.

The AHS volleyball team was young, with only two graduating seniors, but the girls played with unbeatable heart and spirit. The season started with a few tough losses against highly ranked teams, but the two seniors, Connie Luu and Elyse Boelens, helped the team turn its season around. The team finished strong with wins against Olathe, Cedaredge, Gunnison, and the 2nd ranked team in the league, Roaring Fork. The Lady Skiers finished fifth in their conference and third in the district tournament beating rivals Basalt and Roaring Fork. Coach Sarah Benson said, "The girls peeked at the right time in the season... going into districts."

After the loss of six irreplaceable seniors from last year, the varsity football team started the season with some new freshmen faces. The team started training and working hard early in the school year, preparing for their season. They started off with a big bang, winning their first game on Saturday, September 3rd against Norwood. Varsity dominated their opponent with a final score of 38-0. Even though they failed to win another game, they played incredibly throughout the rest of the season as well. "The team did phenomenally well this year; the leadership of the seniors, combined with the desire of the younger players, made them all come together and really play as one team," raves their coach Travis Benson. Their spirit and dedication were incomparable as they continued to persevere.

Dive! Senior Jackson Davis lunges as he tries to escape the clutches of the other team and make a completion for Aspen.

Hold up. Struggling to hold his opponent, junior Ben Baker prevents him from scoring a touchdown.

Hut, hut, hike! Running a play during the game, junior Michael Ufkes gets ready to receive the hand-off.

Don't hit me! Ready for the opponent, junior Jordan Laughren prepares for the hit.

Watch out. Sophomore Tucker Eason runs across the field, passing everyone on his way.

Six strong seniors led the AHS Boys' Basketball team to a stupendous season this year. They boys finished fourth in league and 10-10 overall. One highlight of their season was the game against Roaring Fork. Up by one with 10 seconds left, Roaring Fork was forced to shoot an awkward shot and by nothing but luck, made it. "It was going to be the first league game Roaring Fork lost for over three years; that's 36 games where they haven't lost," said senior Captain Luke Gosda. Other highlights of the season were winning the tight games and making the last shot in the final seconds. The team moved on to Regionals after beating Olathe. They persevered and finished 10-13. The Boys' Basketball season was memorable and fulfilling for players, coaches, and their fans.

The girls' basketball team this year was difficult to coach because there was so much talent and it was hard to get everyone to pre-form all at once. All of the coaches were very understanding though, and even in times of disappointment, were supportive and patient. "This was the hardest year I have ever coached," said Coach Dave Conarro. The Varsity team did well throughout the season, and although not as well as everyone hoped, they ended with a great game, full of passion and enthusiasm. In the end, everyone left content, leaving underclassmen excited for future basketball seasons.

This year's season was full of ups and downs for the hockey team. With a fast start and a frustrating mid-season, some were skeptical about the team and whether or not they would live up to their expectations for state. The team was made up of some of the strongest upper classmen in the school, seven seniors and seven juniors, many were excited to see how they would do. The boys did not disappoint and despite a couple of difficult weeks, the boys rounded out the season with a strong finish and successful year. They finished up their season with a strong fought game and an unfortunate loss to Machebeuf during the State playoffs.

All about the speed! Alpine skiing was one sport Aspen constantly does well in, after all we are the Skiers! Nine out of nineteen athletes skied their way into States (seven boys, two girls). There, senior Paul Britvar dominated both the Slalom and the Giant Slalom, winning both events by more than a second. Sophomore Wiley Maple had a strong second place in the Giant Slalom, and junior Stephen Buzbee was close in fourth position. In the Slalom, the team fell short because three out of four athletes didn't finish. In the girls' race junior Christina VanMoorsel had a strong tenth place in the Giant Slalom, and a ninth place in the Slalom. Junior Taylor Buzbee finished in the top thirty of sixty both days. In the end, Aspen was Runner Up behind Summit High, behind by only ten points. The whole team had a great time traveling and competing in all the races.

The Nordic team had a great season. Many of the incoming freshmen had a great first year and the lone senior, Kelly Bogaert, finished off her Nordic years just the way she wanted. The Girls' and Boys' Nordic teams went to States and the girls finished in fifth place, while the boys raced fast enough to get second place. After States came the Junior Olympics qualifier four boys and one girl made it to the Junior Olympics: Noah Hoffman, Whit Parker, Ryan Waldron, Scott Lacy, and Laura Hatanaka. First Row: Hana Maclean, Samantha Kerr, Paige Thomas, Rachel Sher, Jaeda Sichel, Chelsey Hanle, Celina Rodriguez. Second Row: Coach Calan Gibney, Liz White, Steffi Klawiter, Annie Buetow, Sally Meyer, Stephanie Purnell, Sophie Ben-Hamoo, Elle Stark, Coach Cliff Rosell. Third Row: Claudia Strazzer, Annabelle Berklund, Maria Tusa, Jessica Andrews, Kaitlyn Parker, Elise Fornell, Kaitlin Roos, Courtney Smith, Corina Person, Lacy Mosher, and Lauren Peisach. Not Pictured: Ellie Duke and Ellery Kendrick.

This year's team was led by Head Coach, Cliff Rosell, and Assistant Coach, Calan Gibney. They had 2 divers, senior Ellery Kendrick and freshman Chelsey Hanle. The wide variety of ages from the new freshmen to the seasoned seniors created a perfect bonding experience so the team became extremely close throughout the year. At the four home meets, the team excelled greatly and showed off their new found talents to their peers. Junior Elle Stark got 3rd in 100 m butterfly and senior Elise Fornell got 5th in 100 m backstroke at the Western Slope Swim Meet.

GO, GO, GO! Senior Ellie Duke breast-strokes her way to the finish line and a tie for first place

A beautiful butterfly. "Fly" ing through the water, junior Elle Stark shows off her lovely long arms.

Victorious. Sprinting to her winning 50 meter free style race, freshman Paige Thomas does a flip turn into the last 25 meters.

Intense focus. Preparing themselves for their harder dives, Chelsey Hanle and Ellery Kendrick fake the "shammy" and dry off.

Nervous waiting. During a technical issue with the computers, junior Liz White and sophomore Celina Rodriguez talk about the meet while keeping warm.

Clubs

Sports Medicine Club, Model UN, History Club, Science Fiction Club, Weight Training Club Cooking Club, Booster Club, Guitar Club, 3D Modeling and Animation Club, Clay Target Club

1

Sports Medicine Club. Students like junior Haley Ortmann learn about their injuries and how to prevent them from getting hurt again.

2

Model UN Club. Junior Ashley Fish speaks for Argentina on the club trip to Costa Rica where all members represent a separate country.

3

History Club. Junior Lauren Lacy and senior Patrick Kane visit the Aspen Historical Society. Seniors that comprise a History Club Steering Committee select historical photos of Aspen to showcase in the school. Others involved read history books and work on history projects to share.

4

Science Fiction and Fantasy Club. Members such as senior Mike Schuster, read books and share their love for sci fi creativity.

5

Weight Training Club. Sophomore Taylor Huske struggles to lift the bar with his "huge" muscles in Weight Training Club.

Quoting renowned historian Peter Stearns: "History should be studied because it is essential to individuals and to society, and because it harbors beauty."
-Karen Green

6

Cooking Club.
Mmm mmm good! Club members enjoy visiting some of Aspen's finest kitchens and making their own food like juniors Claire Westcott, Kelly Garrett, and Annika Johnson.

Booster Club.
Go skiers!!! Booster Club members sophomores, Maggie Melberg, Hayley Kaulman, and Whitney Mulsen are the wonderful artists that boost the spirit of the school with their huge signs that support all the sports teams.

3D Modeling and Animation Club.
Members, like junior Nate Marrs, uses computer graphics to create animations, virtual reality and games by motion tracking.

8

Guitar Club.
Future entertainer? I think so! Sophomore Jimmy Budwell, juniors, Ashley Fish and Sarah Richardson, Derek Brown, junior Ryan Waldron, and sophomore Amanda Cunningham.

10

Clay Target Club.
Like to shoot? Senior Annabelle Berklund does! Target members have loads of fun shooting clay rather than live animals.

Clubs

*Environmental Club, Outdoor Club, Hospital Volunteer Club, Outreach Service Club, Kayak Club
Yoga Club, Book Club, Astronomy Club, Literature Magazine, Film Club*

1

Environmental Club.

Environment lovers, such as junior Claire Westcott take care of all recycling within the school and raise money to help save the planet.

2

Outdoor Club.

Rock climbing and caving are a couple of fun journeys the Outdoor Club went on. Junior David Hach has a blast splunkering.

Hospital Volunteer Club.

HVC members, such as senior Ali Zichek, dedicate their time to help hospital patients every week.

3

Outreach Service Club.

Lift-Up, Aspen Cares, gift wrapping, and Chris Klug's National Donor Day, are some of the many activities volunteers for Outreach Club participate in.

4

Kayak Club.

In such a beautiful valley, AHS students are fortunate to have the opportunity to join an extreme outdoor sport. Sophomore Taylor Preusch, and junior Dylan Rayburn love to kayak! From novice to expert, all levels paddle in Kayak Club.

"You may ask why we do these crazy things- because it's there."
-Andre Wille

6

Yoga Club

Sophomore Caitlin Doyle stays in touch with her body, mind, and spirit through yoga meditation.

7

Book Club

Sophomore Natalie Obermeyer has a passion for reading, as well as her book groupies.

9

Literature Magazine

Juniors Cynthia Whitman, Sarah Richardson, Alicia Leto, and Lauren Lacy, along with other members, read and edit pieces of student writing. They are made into a printed magazine for the whole school to read.

8

Astronomy Club

Imagining beyond the universe, supernovas, and awe-inspiring constellations are what astronomy lovers study, like juniors Robert Oppenheimer and Dylan Rayburn.

10

Film Club

Film enthusiasts like sophomore Sydney Adams view various films of all genres. They discuss their reaction and outlook towards the films.

Student Senate

Despite popular belief, Student Senate consisted of more than just quirky skits at all-school assemblies. The elected students that made up Student Senate worked hard all year to put together various events such as Homecoming Week and Ski Day. With a goofy group of kids, meetings were not always that productive as Rixie Cornell learned when she took over for Sarah Benson. "The students were responsible, but I give Sarah a lot of props for doing this year after year. It was a lot harder than I expected."

1

Peace out. Head girl, Elyse Boelens, and head boy, Reuben Sadowsky worked and played hard all year.

2

New woman on campus. Rixie Cornell took control of the Student Senate class after Sarah Benson went on maternity leave in March.

3

Chillin' like a villain. Junior Scott Clancy and senior Nathaniel Olson take a breather after skiing hard at Buttermilk during Ski Day.

4

"We had a meeting today?" In true freshmen style, Nick Byrne exhibits the freshmen attitude towards their duties in Student Senate... Homecoming clean up?

5

Party it up. The senior court of Homecoming awaits the king and queen verdict. The Homecoming dance is put on by Student Senate every year.

Aspen Youth Center Board

The Aspen Youth Center Board was a group of AHS students who work with the Youth Center to devise fun and exciting activities for their fellow students. With the help of two AYC directors, the students were able to plan a range of activities such as poker tournaments, free pizza Fridays, sledding and bonfire parties, trips to Denver to watch the Colorado Avalanche play, and school barbeques. The board members also participated in community service projects put on by the Youth Center. All of the board members helped the elementary school students make gingerbread houses for the winter holiday and volunteered at the Cirque de'Aspen event that took place over winter break.

1 Pizza lunch! Senior board members Mena Sivess and Carly Magill enjoy pizza while discussing Youth Center board events.

3 Fearless leaders. Brian and Sue Smeadsted hold the board together and make sure all events run smoothly.

4 Bluffing! Junior Eric Sciarone puts on his game face for a serious card game at the AYC board's poker night.

Snowboarding

"STRONG" and "TALENTED" were words used this year to describe the snowboarding team. The team mainly competed against each other in USASA competitions. The events were held every other weekend in Snowmass, and on Friday nights Seniors Breton Lujan, Teddy Karlinski, and Joey Stokes competed in "Big Air" competitions in snowmass. Junior Jordan Karlinski had a wonderful season, making it to the X-Games.

① Zak Ferrara

② Breton Lujan

③ Loren Lujan

Freestyle Skiing

This year the Freestyle team stepped up their competitiveness by entering almost all the national events. Sophomore Whitney Wickes was the youngest female in the U.S. Freeskiing Open this past January placing sixth in slopestyle. She and her brother Andrew (senior) both qualified for an international competition in Sweden in March. Sophomore Charlie Lasser placed 9th in the Core Ski Competition in Breckenridge, beating both of the Olenick brothers. He said, "the best part of the season was actually out of the park and in the backcountry skiing powder." Seniors Matt Walker and Andrew Wickes both competed in the "A-wall" competition under the lights in Aspen. Matt Walker took second winning a $250 cash prize.

Junior Sam Ferguson throws a huge d-spin in a Snowmass competition.

Flying over a parked truck senior Andrew Wickes barely misses finals in the Aspen Open.

Senior Matt Walker boosts way out of the Buttermilk half pipe in the Aspen Open.

Whitney Wickes, sophomore, slides across a box in the U.S. Freeskiing Open at Vail.

Soar like an eagle. Senior Brandon Briscoe shows off his Kung Fu skills at a prestigious competition in Jamaica. Brandon placed 2nd and 3rd at the event and truly shined.

Horse Whisperer. Grooming her horse, freshman Jaeda Sichel takes a short break before getting back on her horse for more practice.

Classy Ballerinas

The girls at Aspen Santa Fe Ballet worked hard all year. With strenuous pointe classes and adagios galore, the girls continued to shine in their performances such as the Nutcracker. Although the class was smaller this year, freshman Kartie Isaacson and sophomores Jessica Hite and Stephanie Purnell worked hard to perfect their dancing.

Out of School Activities:

Balancing act. Sophomore Haley Hoffman, balances with the greatest ease as she shows off some of her gymnastic skills. After years of hard work, Haley is a level 9 in the gymnastics program. She is the only remaining high school students who still practices daily.

All Aboard! Freshman Katie Isaacson, one of the high school figure skaters, performs in the Aspen Skating Club's production of The Polar Express as one of the engineers.

Foreign Exchange

This year at AHS we had seven foreign exchange students. They came from all over the world. Maria Chiara Tusa, Eva Castiglioni, and Claudia Strazzera all came from different parts of Italy. Maria Chiara was only here for the first semester, while Eva and Claudia were here for eleven months. Throughout the third quarter Aspen High School hosted three students from Bariloche, Argentina. They came here over their summer vacation to learn English extensively. Axel Lindqvist came here from Sweden for eleven months. He is from the southeastern city of Stockholm. These seven students loved their experience of the high school and loved visiting the United States.

1 Viva Aspen! Axel Lindqvist joined the high school for the entire year. He traveled all the way from Sweden.

Italian love. Eva Castiglioni and Claudia Strazzera both came from Italy, but different cities. Eva is from Como and Claudia is from Cagliari.

3

¡Hola! Mariana Carluccio visited from Argentina and was here for the third quarter.

4

Happy to be here. Argentinians Joaquin Ruiz and Gaston Mary enjoyed being in the US and learning the American way of life.

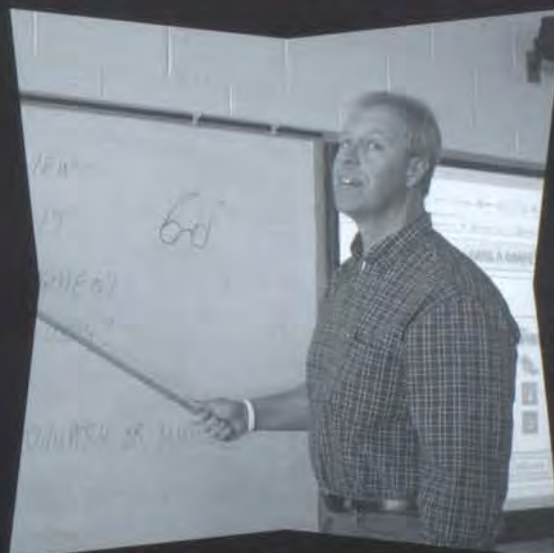

Psychology, Senior Seminar, and Heroes

This year, Heroes, taught by Randy Youngling, had the most amount of students in the course's history. This was a sign that students were interested in getting more involved as leaders and role models in the school. The course taught subjects ranging from drug and alcohol awareness to leadership and life lessons. Randy also taught Psychology and Senior Seminar. He had three sections of Psychology where he taught students how the brain works. With the seniors in Senior Seminar, kids learned important life skills. "This may be the most important class you take at AHS," said Randy Youngling.

Seniors Tucker Helmus, David Goldberg, and Sam Harder learn about the food pyramid in Senior Seminar.

The wise Randy Youngling teaches close to 100 kids in his three different classes. He is also the advisor of Captains' Club, where the Captain from each sports team meets to discuss how to be a better leader.

Listen up. Randy Youngling, in Heroes lectures students on the daily lesson during the Monday lunch period.

Junior Amy Wellman fills out the sections of a brain in Psychology class.

Wesley,
We love you!

Forever Young

May God bless and keep you always,
May your wishes all come true,
May you always do for others
And let others do for you.
May you build a ladder to the stars
And climb on every rung,
May you stay forever young.

May you grow up to be righteous,
May you grow up to be true,
May you always know the truth
See the lights surrounding you.
May you always be courageous,
Stand upright and be strong,
May you stay forever young.

May your hands always be busy,
May your feet always be swift,
May you have a strong foundation
When the winds of changes shift.
May your heart always be joyful,
May your song always be sung,
May you stay forever young.

Doctors have come from distant cities
just to see me
stand over my bed disbelieving what they're seeing

they say I must be one of the wonders
of god's own creation
and as far as they can see they can offer
no explanation

newspapers ask intimate questions
what confessions
they reach into my head
to steal the glory of my story

they say I must be one of the wonders
of god's own creation
and as far as they can see they can offer
no explanation

I believe
fate smiled and destiny
laughed as she came to my cradle
"know this child will be able"
laughed as my body she lifted
"know this child will be gifted
with love, with patience
and with faith
she'll make her way"

people see me
I'm a challenge to your balance
I'm over your heads
how I confound you and astound you to know I must be one of the wonders
of god's own creation
and as far as you can see you can offer me
no explanation

I believe
fate smiled and destiny
laughed as she came to my cradle
"know this child will be able"
laughed as she came to my mother
"know this child will not suffer"
laughed as my body she lifted
"know this child will be gifted
with love, with patience
and with faith
she'll make her way"

We've got your back!

WHEN I WAS YOUNG IN COLORADO

Kaitlin

When I was young in Colorado, I would fall asleep with my bedroom window open. Cooled by the crisp Colorado air, I listened to the harmonious melody of crickets, peacefully lulled to sleep before a single song could end.

When I was young in Colorado, I would awake in the middle of the night to gaze outside my bedroom window and watch a family of deer stand in our yard. Watching me sleep, they would stand for hours, hidden by the drooping leaves of our trees, leaving only when the sun's beams began to reveal their hiding spot.

When I was young in Colorado, I would lay a cozy blanket atop a patch of grass to stare at the luminous, sparkling sky. Gazing at the crescent moon I nicknamed "God's Thumbnail," I always searched for "Grandpa's star," which of course was the brightest star I could find.

When I was young in Colorado, mom and I would hike up the Hunter Creek Trail. Her goal? To get to the top. Mine? I was on a mission to find the most colorful leaf, bizarre rock, or some form of wildlife as I waltzed up the path.

When I was young in Colorado, I had a miniature John Deere tractor I rode all around our cement patio. Backing up, pedaling ahead, turning left or right, I was always traveling somewhere, leaving circular trails in the snow and mowing over our plastic furniture.

When I was young in Colorado, mom and I would go to the playground near Wagner Park. Immediately, I would hop on a tire swing and mom would spin me. As my surroundings became smeared and blurry, I squealed with delight, asking mom to do it again, and again, and again....

When I was young in Colorado, I learned how to roast marshmallows. Letting the marshmallow catch fire and become covered by a thick layer of crispiness, I would slowly remove and eat its darkened shell. A massive chunk of melted marshmallow revealed. I always had the ideal, gooey marshmallow for s'mores.

When I was young in Colorado, I would go sledding down the largest hill I could find. The rushing sensation as I sped down was my favorite aspect and was seen to be quite amusing, until my cousin and I hit a jump at an odd angle. I landed on my head, and she landed on top of me. Oops.

From the moment you arrived, with your wide smile and affectionate nature to your star quality antics, you have exceeded our wildest expectations. As you head off to college, remember what your teacher said—you will thrive there. You are a formidable woman.

We love you—Queenbee,
Dad, Terri and Aaron

WILMA

October 24, 2005

Hurricanes ravage the Gulf Coast region in the fall of 2005, posing an unprecedented test of the United States federal emergency response efforts. Hundreds of lives are lost and thousands are left homeless in the wake of Category 4 Hurricane Katrina, followed by Rita and Wilma. The tragedy spurs contributions of money, talents, homes, food and more in an attempt to raise spirits and rebuild the area.

RISING FROM THE STORMS

August

- 25 Hurricane Katrina strikes Florida.
- 28 Mandatory evacuation of both New Orleans and Mississippi is ordered as Katrina becomes a Category 5 storm in the Gulf of Mexico.
- 29 Downgraded to a Category 4 storm, Katrina hits land. 1.3 million homes and businesses lose electricity in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. 30 levees are breached, flooding New Orleans and leaving 100,000 people stranded. After slow government response, civil unrest and looting begins.
- 31 President Bush surveys the damage.

September

- 1 30,000 National Guard troops are deployed. Gas prices spike to as high as $5 per gallon.
- 2 President Bush visits Louisiana and signs a $10.5 billion relief bill. Nearly 154,000 evacuees arrive in Texas.
- 4 The New Orleans Superdome is evacuated.
- 6 President Bush and Congress pledge to investigate the flawed disaster response.
- 9 Government-issued debit cards are distributed to evacuees. The program fails and is ended days later.
- 12 Michael Brown, head of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, resigns. Flooding is down to 50 percent in New Orleans.
- 14 New Orleans Mayor Ray Nagin announces a phased repopulation plan.
- 15 New Orleans begins to reopen. Katrina is named the most destructive hurricane in U.S. history.
- 20 Louisiana Governor Kathleen Blanco declares a state of emergency as Hurricane Rita strengthens off the coast.
- 22 Rita hits the Louisiana coast and heads for Texas.
- 23 Thousands evacuate eastern Texas and the 9th Ward of New Orleans floods once again after levees are overrun.

October

- 24 Hurricane Wilma hits southwest Florida.
